Freedom Forum Discussion Set Tonight on WT Campus

Where are we in the Cold War? Is Socialism inevitable for America? What must be done to save freedom?

These questions, and many others, were discussed at the First Annual Southwestern Freedom Forum held recently in Lubbock, which was attended by Dan Selakovich, assistant professor of social studies at West Texas State. Mike Morris of Canyon also attended.

Selakovich will make a public report on the Freedom Forum, tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 in the Administration auditorium at the college. Selakovich's trip to the Forum, and his report to the public is under the sponsorship of Sigma Nu fraternity.

The program for the Freedom Forum was formulated by a council of leading citizens to analyze both the external and internal threats to the American way of life.

Speaking during the three-day session attended by hundreds of leading civic and business people were some of the nation's foremost authorities on Socialism and Communism.

Included on the program were Lyman B. Kirkpatrick Jr., inspector general for the Central Intelligence Agency; Richard Arens, former investigator for the House Un-American Activities Committee; Around Penha, FBI agent in the ranks of the Communist Party; and Lt. Com. G. B. Stewart, USN, authority on Communism.

Emphasized throughout the discussion of the dozen or more major topics on the Forum program were studies of the basic philosophy of the Communist conspiracy, the relationships of Socialism to Communism, methods of infiltration and brainwashing techniques being used in America, and means of preserving individual freedom.

Among area people on the advisory committee of the Freedom Forum were A. F. Madison, former mayor of Amarillo; Lon Watson, president of Southwestern Public Service; and Art Jordan, Curry Motor Freight.

Members of Sigma Nu fraternity will serve as hosts at the Freedom Forum Report. Citizens of Canyon and the surrounding area are invited to attend.

Large Issue Next Week

Annuals Ready

West Texas State College annuals for the 1960-61 school year are now available at the journalism department, according to Bill Lee, head of the department.

Next week The Canyon News will publish one of the biggest editions ever printed in Randall County. The edition will be dedicated to West Texas State College, which this year began the second half of its first century.

There will be stories and pictures of WT's faculty members, a history of the school and many items of interest to WT alumni, students, faculty and to Canyon people in general.

Most of the stories to be in the special edition were written by Vaughn Vandergriff. Aerial pictures to be in the edition were taken by John Pakan. John was piloted by Wilford Taylor.

Copies of the special edition will be sent to every high school library in the Panhandle and South Plains.

Property Values Rise, Percentage May Drop

Randall commissioners heard a proposal Monday from Bill Money county tax assessor-collector, to drop tax percentages from 20 per cent to 15 per cent.

Money has been working on the county tax roll since the first of the year after commissioners authorized him to do so.

They had at first considered hiring an appraiser.

Money told commissioners that only 15 per cent of the new figure would be needed to equal or surpass last year's collections. Last year collections ran over $32 million. This year the total value of real and personal property in the county is set at $221,791,720. Money's guess is that 15 per cent of this would bring in over $33 million. He said that the figure would probably be about $80,000 more than last year.

He added that this could vary some since he has not set values on utilities and pipe lines.

"I know it would not lower my figure by $80,000 and it could increase it by $1 and one-quarter million," he explained.

Money had a breakdown of values as to the area. He estimated south Amarillo at $106,582,630; Canyon and UMBarger, $16,108,290; rural, $75,642,200; personal, $28,458,600.

Clarence Beckman, commissioner of precinct 2, asked him what increases had been made in land values.

"Dryland has been set from $55 to $70 and irrigated land has been set at $175," Money replied.

He added that he has readjusted expressway property also.

Money concluded by saying that letters informing property owners of the changes would be in the mail in the near future.

In other business commissioners authorized bids for a calculator for the tax assessor-collector's office, purchased a typewriter for the county clerk's office and moved that the county judge write a letter of appreciation to the three property owners involved in the recent Washington Street over-pass transaction.

Horse Show Opens Today At Sheriff's Posse Arena

PLENTY OF ACTION is in store for spectators at this afternoon's cutting horse contest at the Sheriff's Posse arena. The annual event, featuring a Quarter Horse show with other attractions, is sponsored by the Canyon Jaycee Club.

Historical Drama May Be at Park

An association to sponsor an out-door theatre in Palo Duro Canyon was formed Sunday.

The association organized and elected officers at a meeting in the district court room here.

Officers for the board are Margaret Harper, president; Pete Cowart, vice-president; Jerry La Grone, treasurer and Mrs. Dorothy Neblett, secretary. These along with Raymond Raillard, William A. Moore and Avert Lair form the seven member Board of directors.

This board of directors is serving for the organizational period of six months. The main object of the association at this time is to acquaint the area of the desire to construct an amphitheater in Palo Duro State Park and there-in to present a historical drama each summer.

Paul Green, noted author and Pulitzer Prize winner, was here week before last and discussed the possibility of writing the historical play to be presented at such a theater.

Green has several similar plays in production during the summer across the nation. He calls them "shrine dramas". They are written around situations that actually happened in the locale of the theater. If he wrote one to be presented here it would concern some part of the Canyon's history.

The association will form a non-profit corporation and issue revenue bonds to finance the venture. Memberships to the present association are available from Jerry LaGrone. They are $12.50. There are also memberships for those who wish to support with time.

The association, as yet not formally named, will meet again on the second Sunday in June at the Branding Iron Theater. At that time members of the association hope to have as their guests, interested people from throughout the Panhandle.

The program will be explained further then.

Anyone seeking more information at this time may contact any member of the board of directors.

Burn Lots Saturday

Saturday volunteer firemen will burn off vacant lots, according to Bill Sternberg, fire chief.

Sternberg said this is being done to prevent fire traps and to also improve looks.

Before lots can be burned, Sternberg said the city needs authorization of the landowner. If the owner lives out of town, he would prefer the permission in writing.

Anyone wishing to have property cleared of weeds and combustible debris is urged to contact city hall before Saturday, May 13.

Temperatures

Vary for Week

Temperatures here ranged from 86 degrees to near freezing during the past week.

Wednesday of last week the high reading was 85 degrees and the low 46; Thursday, 83 and 62; Friday, 82 and 50; Saturday, 80 and 48; Sunday, 86 and 40; Monday, 85 and 41;

Dr. M. B. Measamer, who records weather information here, said precipitation during April came to .28 of an inch. This was the smallest amount to fall in April since records have been kept here. Recording of weather information at Canyon began in 1949.

The US Weather Bureau said its records dating to the 1880 show this to have been the driest April yet.

City's Oldest Resident Dies Saturday, May 6

Canyon's oldest resident, Mrs. Sallie Maxwell Bosley, died at her home Saturday at 4:20 a.m. Mrs. Bosley was 95.

Funeral services were held Monday at 10 a.m. in LaGrone Funeral Chapel, the Rev. Strauss Atkinson, pastor of the First Baptist Church officiating.

Born July 30, 1865, Mrs. Bosley's childhood was spent, for the most part in Grayson County. She married Clarence Emory Bosley in 1882. The Bosleys came to the plains in 1927 in a Model T Ford, after rearing their family around Gainesville.

They moved to Canyon in 1928 here Bosley started a wrecking yard. They settled in the same house in which Mrs. Bosley succumbed. The house was moved to its present location at 1104 2nd Avenue many years ago.

She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church.

Survivors include three sons, Louis F. of Gainesville, Cecil Guy and S. M. of Canyon; two daughters, Martha Morgan of Tonasket, Washington, and Sally Juanita Beasley of Baywood Park, California; 24 grandchildren; 44 great grandchildren; and 13 great-great grandchildren.

Interment was in Dreamland Cemetery under direction of LaGrone Funeral Home.

Pallbearers were Jack Barnard, Roland Black, Levi Cole, B. C. Taylor, Hampton Lisle R. Rigsby. Honorary pallbearers were Lee Foster, Guy Harp, Dan Sanders, Clarence E. Thompson and Velton Soggee.

CANYON VOLUNTEER firemen will soon receive new helmets, coats and hats similar to the ones worn in the above photo by Jack Jennings. Jennings is fire marshal. The new equipment should arrive within the next few weeks.

Our neighbor, Don Briggs tells the funniest fish story we've heard in a long time. It seems that Don and several buddies had fished all day at Buffalo Lake a few years back and hadn't gotten a nibble.

Along came a colored boy with an ancient rig and no bait. He asked Don if he could borrow some bait.

"You hear that bob white?" the colored lad asked. "Well suh, that means good luck for me." And it did. He sat right down where Don had been fishing all day and using Don's bait—all of it—he caught a dozen beauties. Don still hadn't gotten a nibble.

"I haven't been much of a fishing enthusiast since," Don declares.

We have some sad stories to tell about fishing, too. We always get there the day or week after they quit biting. A few years back we went to Crestview, Fla. Supposedly one of the best fresh water fishing places in the world. We fished a couple of days and didn't get a strike.

"You ought to have been here last week," the natives told us ruefully.

Just for kicks, a drive-in theatre operator in a neighboring town last year cut into the audio system to say that an angry husband had just entered the drive-in with a gun. He believed his wife to be at the theatre with another man.

There was a traffic jam at the exit.

With construction of the new Dam at Palo Duro Canyon and completion of Lake Stockton northeast of here, Randall County is indeed becoming a vacation spot.

Tommy Thompson please take note. Tax inequities of which you speak in Randall County are nothing compared to inequities of taxation in Potter County.

In Amarillo, we're told, the county assesses city property for taxation at 25 percent of actual cash value. This means that a $20,000.00 home is taxed at $5,000.

Ranch land in the breaks is taxed at $2.50 an acre. This means it should be selling at about $10.00 an acre. Did you ever try to buy some of it at $10.00 an acre, Tommy?

Why don't you get off our back, Tom. Especially get off Judge Wayland Angel's back. He's a nice guy and is doing a fine job under some of the most difficult circumstances.

There's an old saying that if every man swept in front of his own door, the whole world would be clean.

Bud Parker got the shock of his life the other day. Several months back Bud took home a stray dog. He assured the family that the dog was a boy. Well, you can imagine his surprise when he went home the other day to find that his boy dog had become a mother.

We had a note this week from James Hancock of 1902 Third Avenue. Said Mr. Hancock, "Have you noticed that Kennedy rates higher now than Ike ever did? The more hell the papers give him with slanted news, the more the people approve of him."

No, Mr. Hancock, we hadn't noticed that Mr. Kennedy's popularity had outstripped Ike's. I am sure that Mr. Kennedy is indeed popular.

It is interesting to note that the President is pulling some of his strongest support from those who opposed his election bitterly and some of his bitterest opposition from those who campaigned for him.

No administration in this country's history has had more reverses in its first four months than that of Mr. Kennedy. It should be noted no administration had faced as grim a situation as that of the present President.

Who Pays for What

(An Editorial)

Division of the county road and bridge fund has become a bone of contention among members of commissioners' court. In a session of commissioners' court before B. R. Jones, South Amarillo, took office, the commissioners voted to divide the fund on a mileage basis.

Then, in a meeting January 3, C. Y. Johnson, South Amarillo, made a motion, seconded by Jones, to divide the money on a tax source basis. No vote was cast on that motion.

In the last meeting in April, the commissioners voted for a 44-56 split with Amarillo on the big end of the deal. The two Amarillo commissioners cast dissenting votes and the two South Amarillo commissioners voted affirmative. Judge Wayland Angel cast the tie-breaking vote which carried the motion.

It may be surprising to Commissioners Jones and Johnson when they learn just how little South Amarillo actually is paying into the road and bridge fund.

Most homes in South Amarillo are listed as homestead property and pay nothing into the fund while farm lands in the south part of the county, in most instances, do pay a road and bridge assessment.

Anyway, we cannot understand the South Amarillo commissioners' sudden passion to contribute nothing to maintenance of roads in outlying areas.

South Randall County folks contributed heavily to payment for right of way for the freeway between Amarillo and Canyon. Who benefits most from the freeway? Amarillo, of course. Amarillo grew to be a city because of its accessibility and for no other reason.

Every road in the area helps Amarillo. As a matter of fact, people from Amarillo probably use South Randall County roads as much or more than the people of South Randall County themselves. This is because almost all of the Panhandle's recreational facilities are located in Randall County.

South Randall County, because of its geographic location and because of its assets, will become more and more important to the area as a whole and to Amarillo in particular as years go by. We ask our county commissioners from Amarillo, C. Y. Johnson and B. R. Jones, to think on these things. We believe that if members of commissioners court will resolve to be reasonable and to seek the best interest of the county as a whole a great deal can be accomplished.

City Planning

(An Editorial)

Canyon is experiencing rapid growth which promises to accelerate as time goes by. We either can plan for that growth or let the town grow wild.

A little planning now will save tax payers millions in the future if Canyon grows to be a city of 15,000 to 20,000 population. Never was the old proverb, "A stitch in time saves nine," truer than in a case such as ours.

We certainly think that it would be well for the city commission to give a long hard look at the possibilities of city planning.

Germany Ignored Economist Heller and She Prospered

(An Editorial)

Imposing evidence has only recently come to light to show that leading New Deal economists, including Professor Walter W. Heller, are capable of giving some mighty bad advice. This is important because Mr. Heller is now chairman of President Kennedy's council of economic advisers.

The State Department has declassified a 1951 report in which Mr. Heller, Professor Alvin Hansen, and several others solemnly warned that the German economy could not possibly improve without a thorough immersion in Keynesian-New Deal philosophy (reported in HUMAN EVENTS March 17, 1961). Events have proved that the forecast was silly.

The professors were members of a Marshall plan team whose mission was to tell the new German government how to manage its economy. Their 400 page report, said to be largely the work of Mr. Heller, expressed the opinion that the German economy was bogged down on a "sort of plateau" and that "proper measures must be taken if the possibilities (of further progress) are to be realized."

Fortunately for Germany, the Bonn government disregarded the report. In every important matter it kept on doing precisely what Mr. Heller and his colleagues said it should stop doing, and Germany has wound up better off than the report considered possible even if its recommendations had been followed.

The report said Germany would never achieve the necessary rate of industrial expansion if it continued to worry about inflation; that it should not "confuse war time inflation with the normal operations and peace time credit"; that it had an "excessive concern for price stability"; and that it was "overly timid" in allowing the creation of new credit.

Germany has continued to guard against inflation (as successfully, in fact, as any industrial country) and has kept in tight rein on the expansion of credit.

The report called for easy money and said that "a rate of interest high enough to stimulate any large volume of personal savings would seriously curtail investment."

Germany has kept a high rate of interest.

The report said that tax concessions granted to industry, such as depreciation allowances, were being abused and that in any case they represented only "an expenditure of tax funds which would otherwise have been collected by the government." Accordingly, the report said, a "compulsory investment program" would be more effective. Under the recommended program, all industries were to be assessed for the fund and the government was to distribute the money to industries where there was "a crying need for expansion."

The government did nothing of the kind.

The "key bottleneck" in Germany industrial expansion, the report said, was an inadequate supply of coal. It recommended vast government programs for stimulating the production of coal.

Little was done along this line. Coal has become a drug on the market and the problem has been how to dispose of the surplus.

Finally, the report drew a distinction between Germany, squeezed between too great a demand for imports and not enough exports, and the United States, "where there has never been any fear of a squeeze or an external drain."

Today, having disregarded all of Mr. Heller's recommendations, Germany has turned the tables on us. It has built up an enormous trade surplus, accumulated nearly 8 billion dollars in reserves, and the squeeze is on the United States—to such an extent, indeed, that we are begging Germany to help us out.

What actually happened just couldn't happen, according to Mr. Heller and others. They go on pretending that the United States must take the same medicine they prescribed for Germany even though Germany recovered precisely because it poured the nasty stuff down the drain.

Nester & Winters Honored Saturday

Arch Hunsley came by this week to talk about Highway 87. A meeting of the US 87 association was held in Plainview.

Arch believes that Canyon should be getting more of the tourist dollar spent along Highway 87 since Canyon is the Panhandle's outstanding vacation spot and a natural stop over for tourists.

He thinks more effort should be made here to push the attractions of Highway 87.

Riley Troth called Tuesday. He was pleased that the Russians are having to do some explaining about their man in space while our Commander Shepherd made his flight with the whole world looking on. Riley says he hopes the US will exploit this first psychological victory in years.

Dan Selakovich, faculty member in WT social studies department, attended the freedom forum at Lubbock last week, and he will report on the meeting tonight. It should be a report worth hearing. Time and place is noted elsewhere in this edition.

During the next six weeks, judging teams will score 241 communities in their search for Texas' most progressive rural community. Reagan Brown, extension sociologist, says the past year has been the most successful in the 14-year history of the Extension Service conducted program of community improvement. Awards under the program are currently being provided by 10 electric utility companies operating in Texas.

The Ritual of the Jewels was offered upon Mary Winters and Sally Nester, by the Chi Upsilon chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Saturday.

Ceremony was held in the home of Jeanette Robbins. Mrs. Nester was also installed as sponsor of the sorority in a separate installation. Presiding officer at both ceremonies was Wilma Brotherton. Assisting her were Ruby Abbott, Doris Newberry, and Melba Vaughan.

Following the services refreshments were served.

Church Groups Meet Tuesday

The Altar Society and the Confraternity of Christian Mothers of St. Mary's Catholic Church in Umbarger met in the church basement last Tuesday.

A work shop was held on better understanding the atheistic working of Communism in order to be better prepared to fight it. Six defenses were mentioned and reading matter on the subject was recommended. There were 40 members present. Mesdames LaDean Adams, Siegfried Bolte, Jim Jansson, Anton Handing and Jack Brandt were visitors at the meeting.

de Schweinitz Selected For Boys State Program

CLARK DE SCHWEINITZ

A 17-year-old high school junior will represent Canyon at Boys' State in Austin this year.

He is Clark de Schweinitz, son of Dr. and Mrs. George de Schweinitz, 2520 Sixth Avenue.

Boys' State is a program for training boys in the functional aspects of citizenship. It is described by the sponsoring American Legion as a method of instilling in the youth of today constructive attitudes toward the American form of government.

Boys at Boys' State actually participate in the functions of government from city to state level.

Clark is one of the outstanding students of Canyon High School. He is president-elect of the high school student council.

He is president of Boy Scout Explorer Post 66. He heads the Canyon Christian Youth Council and is a member of the high school National Honor Society.

Clark was chosen to represent Canyon at Boys' State by a Legion committee on the basis of leadership, scholarship and citizenship.

Participating in financing the trip to Austin are the American Legion, Canyon Lions Club, Canyon Rotary and Canyon Kiwanis Club.

Phone Demonstration

Members of the Lions Club saw a demonstration today of how long distance telephone calls might be transmitted between this city and Istanbul, Anchorage or any point in the world via a satellite orbiting 3,000 miles above the earth.

This demonstration was a highlight of a talk on space age communications given by Glenn Scott, public information supervisor for Southwestern Bell Telephone Company. Using miniature equipment, Scott showed how Bell Telephone Laboratories scientists bounced telephone calls off a satellite orbiting in outer space in a special experiment known as Project Echo.

"Bell scientists believe a system of about 50 satellites in random polar orbits at a height of 3,000 miles could provide communications facilities between the United States and all areas of the world", he said. "About 26 transmitter-receiver stations which would work in pairs would be located throughout the world to provide the ground terminals for the system. They might also be used to transmit live television programs to any point in the world."

Scott pointed out that the Bell Telephone System transmission network today includes more than 100 million circuit miles to carry phone messages within cities and has some 60 million circuit miles for long distance calling.

Canyon and Randall County Need a Golden Age Home

Editor's note: This is the last of two articles by the Rev. J. W. McCully. He has done extensive study on rest homes throughout the state and feels that Canyon and Randall County needs one.

BY THE REV. J. W. McCULLY
GOLDEN AGE HOME

People in Canyon and over Randall County are vitally interested in a home for our senior citizens, with many it is a grave concern.

When, and if the time comes for many to be cared for by this type of service, the big question is, where can they go? What will it cost? What kind of building? What about the service rendered to aging people?

Canyon and Randall County can provide such a home for its deserving retiring citizens, an institution of which they would be proud. Where there is a will, there is a way. Other communities have done this and others are planning to.

Buildings with a bed capacity for thirty, forty, fifty and sixty are in use. Some are building a unit, or one wing at a time. In some cases, the community raises a part of the money and a long term loan is secured. The residents in the home pay for the running expenses and the loan. They are all self supporting, they are non-charitable institutions. These buildings are all one floor plans.

In many cases, some one gives the land to build on and this is an investment that will live on and on. There are many people that will land, lots, farms or homes and other holdings to these homes for their support and enlargement after they have died. Just like many do for Christian institutions. There are some ways to build and cut out a lot of the expense.

These buildings cost from seventy five thousand, to one hundred and fifty thousand to take care of forty or more people, depending on the material and cost of construction.

Most of the homes have private baths and also semi-private baths and rooms. The cost per person depends on the type of room and service the resident needs. Some require nursing and more attention. The charges have to be set high enough to pay the running expenses.

Some of the homes charge from one hundred and twenty five dollars to one hundred and seventy five dollars per month for a resident, some two hundred, depending, of course, on the service required.

Purpose in building these homes is to meet a desperate need for senior citizens, to relieve them and loved ones some of the anxiety that many have about the last years. People that are approaching these years can make their plans now, and their children too, for their happiness and care in such homes.

Every retired man and woman in Canyon and Randall County can write the editor a note and express his or her interest in the building of such a home in Canyon. We need an expression from every one of them about their concern in this matter.

Civic minded people are interested in such an institution for this community. Our leading senior citizens would be glad to call a meeting and discuss the matter together. It takes a lot of information and planning to get something like this under way. We urge all of our people to think about this matter seriously and let your editor know how you feel about it.

Jr. Livestock Building Fund Grows by $1,500

The Randall County Junior Livestock Association building fund soared upward this week when two checks totaling $1,500 were presented to the association.

First was for $1,000 in memory of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. "Bill" McSpadden. McSpadden Oil Company presented the check to the group. Members of the company are Mrs. H. M. Hunter, Grapevine; Mrs. Elizabeth Evans, Amarillo; Dale E. Martin Sr., Canyon; Robert P. Wilson, Amarillo, and W. A. "Bill" Wilson, Canyon.

Other check was for $500. Bellah's gave the money to the association.

W. A. "Bill" Wilson, head of the special building fund committee, said the two checks will go a long way toward construction but more is needed.

Two more events are planned. One is the giving away of a camping trailer and the other is a farm auction.

Wilson said Clarence Beckman, county commissioner has donated a heifer calf for the auction and several other people have promised livestock. Auction will be held Saturday, May 27, on the livestock building site.

Amarillo Doctor Speaks Tuesday To Rotarians

Dr. J. Y. Lara of Amarillo gave Canyon Rotarians several occasions for soul-searching thought at the Tuesday luncheon, according to members present.

Dr. Lara, born in New York, spoke from the point of view of a person who was reared outside this country. He came to the U.S. in 1952, thus having plenty of opportunity to see the U.S. as many foreigners do.

He was reared in British Honduras where he learned to hate lake only 4,000 fish were taken, the U.S. as was the tradition Canyon fishermen at the lake were the J. E. Thomases, Skeet in movies.

Soon after arriving in the U.S. he learned that the people here were not what he had thought them to be.

Lara singled out "complacency and too much money" as the cause of the present-day situation.

Nine Amarillo Rotations attended the meeting. J. L. Russell, C. Boone McClure and Marshall Rockwell brought guests.

Winds Hinder Conchas Fishing

Fishing reports coming back from Lake Conchas for the past weekend reveal that very few fish were caught and the wind was high.

One person said he thought the fish went to deep water during the high winds.

Farmer Brown, noted Canyon angler, said he believed that out of 2,000 fishermen on the lake only 4,000 fish were taken, the U.S. as was the tradition Canyon fishermen at the lake were the J. E. Thomases, Skeet in movies.

MORE MONEY went into the Randall County Junior Livestock Association building fund this week when two checks totaling $1,500 were presented to the group. Above photo shows Dale E. Martin Sr. and W. A. "Bill" Wilson, representing McSpadden Oil Company, presenting a check for $1,000 to Duane Howard, secretary-treasurer of the association. Barney Barnard, representing Bellah's is giving Howard a check for $500.

Historical Group To Hear Talk on Government Control

"Don't Let the Government Do It," will be the topic of an address delivered by Ben Guill to the 40th Annual meeting of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society to be held here May 12.

Guill, a public relations executive, has served as assistant postmaster and U. S. Representative from this area. A graduate of Canyon High School and West Texas State College, he formerly taught in Panhandle, Pampa and Amarillo schools.

C. Boone McClure, Panhandle-Plains museum director, said approximately 400 persons are expected at the annual meeting. He added that there will be a business meeting in the afternoon climaxed by the evening banquet.

"People of Canyon are cordially invited to attend the banquet," McClure said.

It will be held in the college cafeteria at 7 p.m. Tickets are on sale at the museum at $2.50 each.

Childress Horse Show Saturday

Childress' third annual Quarterhorse show will be held in the city park there Saturday, May 13.

Reining classes start at 9:30 a.m. in the roping arena on the west side of the park. Halter classes will start after lunch at the baseball field just in front of the city auditorium.

There will be an open cutting horse contest during the morning, with entrance fee being divided among the three top winners.

Johnny Stevens, Matador, will be judge; Cliff Campbell will be ringmaster.

A jackpot calf roping will be held Sunday, beginning at 1:30 p.m.

'Guys And Dolls' Sell-Out

BY PENNY COX

"Guys and Dolls," the Frank Loesser musical that is in production in the Branding Iron Theater, is sold out for this week-end's performances.

Last reservations were taken for the Thursday through Saturday performances last Friday. The run was extended for one night. A performance was held Wednesday evening.

Curtain time at the Branding Iron Theater is 8:15 pm. Adult prices are $1.50, public school students $1.00 and college students on their activity cards. There is no Saturday matinee this week.

The show really got off the ground in grand style last week. I'd like to double everything that I mentioned in last week's review and add a few names to my list of outstanding performances.

Mike Wheeler, as Nicely Nicely Johnson; Louis Strovas, as Bennie Southstreet; and Bobby Miller, as Rusty Charlie, provided laugh on top of laugh. They start the show off to a light beginning by assuring the audience that "I've Got The Horse Right Here."

Judy Neslage as the Mission General, Matilda Cartwright, was ushered on stage with much applause.

Gary Wyatt, as Lt. Brannigan, did some sneaky scene stealing in the last mission scene and brought his character into a Runyon reality that wouldn't quit.

Another scene stealer was Henry Werner, the waiter in the Hat Box scenes.

Henry Hardaway, I found out had never been on stage until this show began rehearsals. Henry, as Sky Masterson never let it show.

Jennie Lynn Massad, as Miss Adelaide and Bob Finnium, as Nathan Detroit played their comedy high and light.

Christine McFarlin was convincing and a comical drunk.

The dance routines, especially the one in the sewer featuring Perry Bond, were very effective. Gene Galle, choreographer and dance director should have been out front to watch his handiwork.

The orchestra did a fine job.

They are the backbone of any musical and this musical stood on its own two feet.

The entire cast, I am told, consists of some 65 actors, singers and dancers. Technicians are added to that.

Cast for the show in order of appearance...

Nicely-Nicely Johnson, Mike Wheeler; Bennie Southstreet, Louis Strovas; Rusty Charlie, Bobby Miller; Sarah Brown, Christine McFarlin; Arvide Abernathy, Jerry Ballew; Agatha, Linda Adams; Mission Band, Charlene Wilson, Ruth Ann Bedford, Jan Urbanczyk, and Charles Nance; Harry the Horse, Ford, Jan Urbanczyk, and Charles Nance; Harry the Horse, Harry Gilstrap; Lt. Brannigan, Gary Wyatt; Nathan Detroit, Bob Finnium; Angie the Ox, Fred Neslage; Miss Adelaide, Jenny Lynn Massad; Sky Masterson, Henry Hardaway; Voice of Joey Biltmore, Harry Gilstrap; Master of Ceremonies, Gerald Hanners; General Matilda B. at Canyon High School. Girls played the aggressive role of dating the boys. The girls had to carry the boy's books to class. Anything the boy was in the habit of doing for the girl, the girl had to do for the boy, such as opening car doors and turning on the water fountain.

The girls were responsible for asking the boys for dates and for paying their way to the movies. Most of the girls picked the boys up at their homes for the dates. One of the students remarked that the girls as a whole drive better cars than the boys.

An all-school social in the cafeteria climaxed Twerp Week activities. The Senior class was responsible for the decorations; the junior class provided for the entertainment. The sophomore class was in charge of the refreshments. Freshman class members cleaned up.

The Student-Faculty Congress sponsored the activities.

Envelope Switch Can Lead to Embarrassment

Air mail envelopes should never be used unless the sender desires air mail service, according to Marion Higdon, postmaster.

While the use of airmail envelopes for first-class surface mail is fortunately not widespread, usage is frequent enough to merit special attention.

The colorful red and blue bordered envelopes are restricted to mail intended for transportation by air. If this restriction is not observed, there is potential trouble and embarrassment for everyone concerned. Air mail envelopes which do not bear sufficient postage (7¢ per ounce up to 8 ounces) are handled as air mail, and postage due is collected from the addressee. In the process, the post offices involved are compelled to give the item in question special and expensive attention. The person to whom the envelope is delivered is certainly not pleased when he is requested to pay for special service that neither he nor the sender had in mind.

The position of the Postal Service can better be understood when it is pointed out that air mail envelopes were purposely created with their distinctive markings to identify air mail immediately and to make certain that it receives priority handling on the way from deposit to destination, Higdon said. It would therefore be illogical to permit use of such envelopes for ordinary purposes, as post office personnel would then never be sure about what the mailer had in mind.

When time is a significant factor, air mail should be used. But the mail so sent should always be properly identified. Then the Postal Service will know at a glance what the mailer wants and the recipient will not be asked to share the cost of the transaction.

Questions about air mail will be quickly answered by calling OL5-2507, the postmaster concluded.

FASHION EXTREMES

wear cotton and dacron and wrinkle resistant jersey.

This is going to be a black and white season for dress up wear. The order of the day for evening gadding or afternoon socializing in crisp, cool,ilet or lace, black or white, tailored casuals.

Another predominate feature this summer is the versatility of the styles. The same cotton lace ofilet that you wore to the church social last night will go shopping today.

The casual styles fall into two groups. The colors are either bold and bright or pale and feminine. New colors this summer include hot pink, bright lemon and cool avocado. For the girl or woman with a strictly female taste, the pale lilacs and orange ice shades are vogue.

The low, cool ring neck is prevalent in the fashion scope in many variations. Another favorite styling device this season is the kabuki sleeve which strikes midway on the forearm.

The summer frocks are mainly running in a tailored vein, which adds to their versatility. The comfortable, smart shirtwaist is back in new, exciting colors and fabrics.

For those who prefer a frillier frock, nylon chiffon over matched print in polished cotton is the "coolest" thing going.

Bone shades are in again. Heavy cotton lace trim is the decorative twist for casuals and play clothes alike.

In play-clothes this season, the crop top that was a favorite last year is featured, with kool-lots, bermuda shorts, and shorts. Bright stripes and bold prints dominate the play-clothes scene.

The current high style hem line is mid-way of the knee and the current suit coat length is at the hip bone.

Neutral shades of brown prevail in hosiery with one striking new comer getting into the scene. That new comer is platinum.

All told the summer frocks are cool, tailored, versatile, and easily cared for. The current hem line is a little short for most taste, but the smart woman chooses her clothes to fit her personality and figure and not the fads.

Nine Attend Convention

Nine attended the annual spring convention of the Christian churches of the Panhandle area that met Sunday May 7, at the First Christian church in Borger.

This area is described as District I in the state of Texas.

The business session was conducted by Gilbert Davis, pastor of the Christian church in Hereford. He is the past president of the district.

Jeff Hassell, pastor of the Christian church in Dumas was elected as the new District President.

The afternoon program consisted of a message by Rev. Jess Hawkins, director of Religious activities at Jarvis Christian College. A sixteen voice choir from Jarvis Christian also gave a 30 minute concert.

The First Christian church of Amarillo, spoke to the convention banquet. He presented the church builders program whereby new churches are to be built in District I.

At the evening service the Jarvis Christian College choir sang again. The message, "Be a Good-send", was delivered by Dr. Dudley Strain, pastor of the First Christian Church of Lubbock.

Jarvis Christian College is a school for Negro students supported by the Christian churches.

Those attending from Canyon, were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McKee, Mr. and Mrs. Win Mat-sler, Mr. Marion Higdon, Rev. and Mrs. Dale M. Harter, and their son, Danny. There were 504 delegates registered at the convention, which was the largest registration recorded for this district.

Canyon May Become Setting For Production of Play

Paul Green and Dr. John Parker visited in Canyon recently to discuss the possibilities of writing a "shrine drama" to be presented in Palo Duro Canyon.

Green is a noted author and Pulitzer Prize winner.

John Parker is a professor of drama at the University of North Carolina and director of the Carolina Playmakers. He came with Green in the capacity of advisor.

They were here for three days. Most of their time was spent in the museum and the canyons.

He talked to people and he asked them to tell him their history and their dreams for the preservation of that history.

When asked how he came to write his first "shrine drama"

he answered, "I walked out on Roanoke Island to a place where a colony of people disappeared and I thought, 'I'll write their story.' People told me not to write about them because they had failed and people didn't like to see failure. 'If they don't fail inside,' I thought, 'then they're not failures.'"

And I wrote about Virginia Dare and the other brave people who didn't quit trying. People came to see them struggle and went away feeling, I think, a more active pride in their country. That was in 1928. It's run for 20 seasons, taking time out for the war."

PAUL GREEN, noted author, told a group of interested persons that he may write a "shrine drama" for production in Palo Duro Canyon when he was here recently. Green has written several such plays and many of them have achieved national fame.

Since then there have been many others; "The Stephen Foster Story," "Common Glory" and "The Founders." Green has inspired others to write these "shrine dramas." Kermit Hunter, who studied under Green, wrote "Unto These Hills" which is presented in Cherokee, North Carolina.

Green was asked how he went about writing one of these dramas.

"I visit the place, talk to the people, and use the museums and libraries. I look up old records and ferret out the stories of what actually happened. After all the research is done, I take three or four months to write the play."

"We try to use as many local people in these plays as we can. Usually the manager needs to be a professional and some times we hire a few professional actors."

The question was put to Green, as to what he thought were the advantages of an outdoor theater.

"First you have the thing played against the natural background where it actually happened. You have 180 degree stage. One of the high points of the outdoor theater is when a man comes riding in on horse back or the Indians can be seen silhouetted on bluff. One of the main actors in these plays is the setting itself."

Green was asked if he felt his plays had any universal message to offer.

"My plays are written to re-awaken the American ideals that gave the people of the lost colony the courage to struggle even though they knew that they were doomed. I want to give them the patriotism that Patrick Henry and Thomas Jefferson stood for. I feel that our only chance to keep America a strong nation, is to unite her people and inspire them to push her forward."

"The Constitution" is a religious document in itself. Too often people tend to get carried away with the idea that Christ

Mail Box Improvement Week Begins May 15

The annual rural mail box improvement program will be observed this year during the week of May 15, according to Marion Higdon, Canyon postmaster.

He said the post office department wishes to encourage patrons to provide suitable mail receptacles erected and maintained for easy and safe accessibility, presenting a neat appearance and affording protection to the mail.

"Patrons of rural routes are required to provide mail boxes of the standard approved type," Higdon said. "Names of box owners should be inscribed on the side of the box visible to the carrier as he approaches, or on the door if boxes are grouped.

"The box number may be inscribed on the box if desired and boxes and supports should be kept painted," he added.

Higdon concluded by stating that mail boxes on rural routes must be located on the right side of the road in the direction of travel of the carriers in all cases where traffic conditions are such that it would be dangerous for the carrier to drive to the left in order to deliver mail.

He and the carriers will be glad to cooperate in any way to make the mailbox improvement week a success, Higdon emphasized.

2 Win Driver Safety Contest

Deanna Stocker and Craig Bellah were presented with awards by Mrs. Michael Morris, for the Junior Woman's Book Club Monday at their schools. Deanna won the high school division and Craig the junior high school division safe driving essay contest sponsored by the club.

Topic assigned to the students to write on was "Does Driver Education Make Better Drivers?"

Mrs. Morris presented the cash awards Monday morning at the schools.

"We have this contest annually. Our aim is to encourage young people to think about safe driving even if they never get anything on paper to turn in," Mrs. Morris said.

8th Graders Getting Practical Work in Business Mathematics

EIGHTH GRADE students got first hand information about all types of insurance this week when local agent A. L. Crossland talked to five different math sections. Teacher Gene Duncan said the students took a very active interest in the discussion and had many questions about insurance.

Eighth graders at the junior high school are getting first hand information about all types of insurance, according to math teacher Gene Duncan.

Duncan, who teaches five sections of math and one of science at the school, said his math sections have been studying various types of business and how mathematics applies.

"Right now we're in the midst of a study of insurance," he said, "and the students seem to take an active interest."

In order to create such an interest Duncan invited a local insurance man, A. L. Crossland, to lecture to the classes one day. Crossland explained the different types of insurance, ranging from life to health.

"We've just covered the basic ideas and principles," Duncan pointed out. He added that the students have learned to compute rates.

"Students seem to take a more active interest in their math work when they see how it is applied to practical problems," he further explained.

The insurance study will last approximately two weeks before going on to another subject.

Duncan said stocks and bonds are in store for the classes -- and if time permits, income taxes.

The biggest man on the Cleveland Indians' roster is outfielder Walt Bond. He's 6-foot-6 and weighs in at 228 pounds.

Miss Brigham has taught at West Texas State for more than 40 years, having joined the staff in 1917 after graduation from the University of South Dakota.

"We hope that all Miss Brigham's students, ex-students, and friends will join us Sunday in honoring her," said Dr. Ted J. Crager, head of the music department.

KEEPING UP WITH THE ARTS

Most people watched the firing of the Redstone Missile and saw Alan Shepard in his television flight and were quite interested in the symphonic grateful to see this exciting viewing on their screens. Did you happen to notice when they were listing the people who were responsible for the tv show that Dan O'Conner was the Unit Manager for the filming? Dan was a member of the WT English Department a few years ago. His name appears on many of the remarkable tv shows. He had a lively imagination and was quite a live-wire when he lived here.

drama for our area, I have tried to read the information of how these dramas are carried on.

Paul Green is called the evangelist for democracy. He writes about the "spiritual man in conflict, in conflict with his institutions of politics or war, in conflict with the restrictive social customs, in conflict with his own animal nature."

His concern is for the future of democracy. Paul Green is a dramatist with a duty to entertain as well as instruct. His actors are chosen with the idea that they are motivated by democratic ideals.

He believes that our "American heritage, our American way of life is an ideal, possess the righteous reality of true religion and men giving service thereto, are in line with the pattern of human survival and not of human extinction."

"With a backward look and a backward listening, we can turn squarely to the future and face the future reassured, more certain of the way we should and must go, of the things we should and must do, of the leadership we need to take and must take."

It takes many people, interested in many things to get behind the symphonic drama to see it move forward.

"The Lost Colony" is a drama that has been running for twenty seasons. A group of players from North Carolina University provided technical help, costumes and talent. A member of the dramatic department helped direct the production. In 1959, after 987 performances, the play had been viewed by over one million people. The theater was classified as a concessionaire project operating in the National Park and has had an agreement drawn up along this line.

The story of Sir Walter Raleigh's historical legend is brought to life. Paul Green calls the production symphonic drama because of his combined use of music, dance, pantomime and narration to tell the story.

"The Lost Colony" is the pioneer of these dramas. It is based on facts that contain mystery, heartbreak, and happiness. It is both an educational and cultural medium.

The income from this play is used to maintain the theater, they physical properties, and to perpetuate the production. Many former actors in this production have gone on to other things to make a famous name for themselves.

Some members of the cast are actually enrolled in summer drama classes and the instructors are paid to conduct regular classes.

The theater is used for religious services on Sundays and the large choir of the playings at these meetings.

A film has been made based on the drama for promotional purposes. The film won a prize at the International Film Festival in Edinburgh for its magnificence and scope.

The economy of Dare County and Roanoke Island has improved tremendously. Thousands of people and millions of dollars have rolled into the state of North Carolina.

It is recognized as one of the most outstanding, educational, and historical attractions in America today. So, you can see from all this, that the symphonic drama sounds like a pretty exciting affair, indeed!

Luckily, you will have a second chance this weekend to see "Guys and Dolls" at WT Fine Arts Auditorium. It will be given on May 10, 11, 12 and 13. 8:15 p.m. Telephone OL5-2161 Extension 324 for reservations. It's a very lively show.

Mrs. Janet Blasdel will have her paintings on exhibition for another week at the WT Fine Arts Building. The opening this past Sunday was a big success.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Small dams for farm and range use are usually not expensive, yet they add considerable to the value of the average farm or ranch. They may provide water for a variety of purposes such as for livestock, fire prevention, mixing sprays, recreation and irrigation. They also may play a part in controlling erosion of floods, and improving conditions for wildlife.

Location should give greatest service and pond life. Construction site may also be determined by locality of suitable material for dam, and sealing of water-holding ability of soil at bottom depth. The latter can easily be determined by making test borings past planned depth of excavation.

Storage should be sufficient to meet the needs for which it is built, plus evaporation, seepage, silting, freezing, and probably future needs. For stock ponds a depth that is double evaporation loss is a safe provision.

Spillways should be sod, and natural spillways are desirable from the standpoint of cost and considering difficulty often experienced in establishing good sod. The cost usually prohibits masonry or other structural spillways on small ponds. The spillway should be carefully located, and have a capacity to pass the largest runoff likely to occur within a 25 to 50 year period.

Drainage area may limit size and life of the pond. The most desirable drainage is one covered by vegetation. Drainage from cultivated acreage should be filtered through a well grassed area above the pond to remove silt and increase the effective life of the facility. Watersheds should be no larger than the spillway can handle, but large enough to provide enough runoff based on average rainfall to meet the storage demands.

Pond life will be lengthened if fenced from stock, especially if a considerable number of livestock are to use it.

Dugouts or damless ponds, may be installed if a suitable site for a dam is not located on the farm.

A number of good ponds have been built over the district, and others are being constructed or planned this season. If you would like assistance in planning or locating a pond, see one of your Randall-Potter District supervisors, or a technician of the Soil Conservation Service.

TEXAS 660

(Caprock x male-sterile combine Kafir)

Texas 660 is a medium-maturing hybrid slightly later in maturing than Martin. It is of uniform combine height and is semi-dry-headed. The grain color is light red—has given good increases in yield over Martin and earlier varieties. Texas 660 has made many outstanding yields under irrigation, and is the most popular variety for irrigation on the Texas High Plains.

TEXAS 601

(Tx 04—A Martin cross x male sterile combine Kafir)

Texas 601 is an early hybrid of about the same maturity as Redbine-60. It is dry-headed and the grain color is light red. Texas 601 has shown good yield increases over Redbine-60, Martin, and earlier varieties. 601 matures early and has proven very good under all farming conditions.

303R—Notice the larger heads, and shorter, sturdier stalks of this variety. 303R is recommended for irrigated areas. Maturity date is comparable to Texas 660. Yields have been exceptionally good. The short sturdy stalks and excellent root system of this variety assure exceptional standability.

202R—A short sturdy stalk variety suitable for dryland farming. An earlier maturing variety comparable to RS610. 202R produces high yields of soft red grain. This hybrid was developed for farmers that want a high yielding variety for early harvest.

Note:

202R and 303R seeds are exceptionally large. Planter rate should be increased to allow for this.

R.S. 608

(7078 x MS Martin)

A newer variety, probably the earliest of the Texas Hybrids—it has excellent combine characteristics. It out-produces Martin and matures a few days earlier. We recommend R.S. 608 especially for late planting on either irrigated or dry land.

R.S. 610

(7078 x male-sterile combine Kafir)

Texas 610 is a 7078 early hybrid which is usually between Redbine-60 and Martin in maturity. It is semi-dry headed. The grain color is very light red, large and medium soft in texture. Texas 610 has shown good increases in yield over varieties such as Redbine-60, Combine Kafir-60 and Martin. Texas 610 has proven to be the more popular variety under all farming conditions.

How working couple saves time and steps, gets more done with extension phones

By DON DAVIS,
Telephone News Writer

"My favorite phone is the Princess," says Ted Treadway. "The light-up dial's great. Also, the phone's handy for emergency calls."

"My green kitchen phone comes in real handy while dinner is cooking," says Norma Treadway. "I can make and receive calls while keeping an eye on things."

Junna Lynn Treadway, a third-grader, likes the phone in an alcove because she can sit on the floor and talk with friends.

What can extension telephones do for you?
Perhaps you can get some ideas from Ted and Norma Treadway. A working couple, they both take part in a large number of outside activities.

They have three colorful extension phones in their five-room home. These phones save them time and effort and give them more privacy. And the Treadways' bedroom phone gives them a comfortable feeling of security at night.

Why don't you see what extension phones can do for you? Just call the telephone business office or ask any telephone serviceman. Cost is low.
